Important notes:

This copy of the Inventory is provided as a convenience only, for ready-reference purposes. In cases of any errors or omissions, the master original copy maintained by the Arlington Historical Commission, as amended from time to time, will determine jurisdiction, in case of dispute.

Jurisdiction applies to all structures located at the addresses listed (e.g., dwellings, detached garages, etc.)

In cases of a property having or using more than one street name and/or street number jurisdiction applies to the entire property (example: condominium units).

If a street number or street address for a property is changed from that which appears on this Inventory, jurisdiction will be determined by the Assessor's parcel number and/or other reasonable documentation.

In cases where the number 0 appears and there is no structure on the property, this may indicate that jurisdiction applies to new construction because the property is an unbuilt or partially built upon lot within the boundaries of a district and does not possess a street number.

In case of any uncertainty, property owners, contractors or their agents are directed to contact the Arlington Historical Commission to discuss issues of jurisdiction prior to lodging an application for a Building Permit.
